MINE WAGE NEGOTIATIONS COLLAPSE

JERUSALEM'S FATE UNKNOWN AS GUNS ROAR

Both Arab and Jewish Sides Claim Control in Clashes Around Holy City.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

WITHIN THE OLD CITY OF JERUSALEM, May 19—Arab forces had driven more than half way through the Jewish quarter of the old city of Jerusalem today.

* * *

By The Associated Press

Conflicting statements from Arab and Jewish sources shrouded developments today in the battle for Jerusalem.

The Arab league spokesman in Cairo said Arab troops were in complete control of Jerusalem, but Tel Aviv said Jewish forces had broken the Arab hold on Jerusalem's old Walled City and breached the breach in heavy fighting.

In the absence of fresh word from Jerusalem, it was impossible to say just who had the upper hand.

The Arab spokesman said all Jews in Jerusalem surrendered last night to the Trans-Jordan Arab legion of King Abdullah. The Jews said Haganah troops fought through Zion gate, held by the Arabs at midnight and joined Jewish defenders in the old city.

Jewish headquarters said Haganah also seized the big Sarafand military camp 15 miles southeast of Tel Aviv in a night battle The camp was evacuated by the British, is on the main road to Jerusalem and is close to the Arab stronghold of Ramle, under attack by Irgun Zvai Leumi. The Irgunists said Iraqi and Trans-Jordan troops in Ramle have called for help.

A Syrian army source in Damascus said Syrian and Iraqi forces struck today at Beisan, 14 miles south of the Sea of Galilee, and Safad about seven miles from Galilee's north shore in twin attacks on Jewish strongpoints. The informant said the Syrians expected Beisan to fall soon. The other protests the valley leading westward to the plain of Esdraelon (Armageddon.)

Calls Position Hopeless

Daniel De Luce, Associated Press veteran, reported earlier from inside the old Walled City that Abdullah's desert legion appeared set to wrest the city from its Jewish defenders. He said the Jewish position appeared hopeless, with Arab artillery and infantry ringing the city.

"The old city is tragically battered," De Luce said. "Shrines, such as the Dome of the Rock and the Holy Sepulchre are still unscathed however."

The United Nations truce commission still tried to bring about a cease fire for the city.

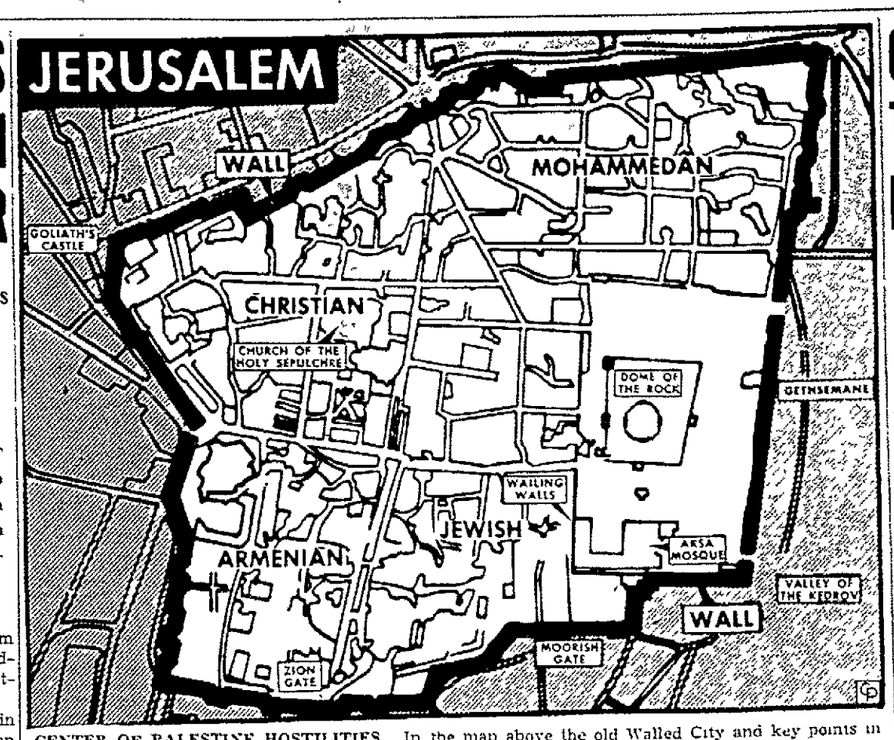
Two More Recognize Israel

Yugoslavia and Nicaragua recognized the new Jewish state of Israel, making a total of seven nations Great Britain, which has not said she will continue giving financial aid and military equipment to the Trans-Jordan Arab Legion and other Arab states "unless and until the United Nations finds these countries have been acting illegally in Palestine." The UN was reported veering away from an American proposal to use an international force to end the war in Palestine.

Tel Aviv was under air raid alert until well after midnight. Attacks yesterday were the worst yet. The Central Bus station received a direct hit.

The Syrian army said it had occupied Samakh at the base of the sea of Galilee and found 172 enemy bodies. A Jewish plane was reported downed over Iraq lines.

If the foreign reports that Egyptians from the south and Syrians from the north linked up in the vicinity of Lydda and Ramle are true—and they are doubted in Tel Aviv—the Jewish capture of Sarafand camp would cut those forces in two again.



CENTER OF PALESTINE HOSTILITIES. In the map above the old Walled City and key points in Jerusalem are shown. Fear that some of the hallowed shrines of the Holy City may be damaged has been expressed in news reports but dispatches today indicated that thus far all are unscathed.

REPORTS RAIL SOLUTION NEAR

Government Official Declares "Substantial Progress" Has Been Made.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, May 19 — A high government official said today a settlement seems near in the railroad labor dispute which nearly erupted into a nationwide strike a week ago.

This usually well-informed official, who asked not to be named, said "substantial progress" on new contract terms has been made in the new negotiations which opened yesterday.

He believed there was a chance that full agreement between the rail industry and the three unions involved "may come within a day or two."

This official said it was because of the progress in negotiations that the government postponed for nine days its request for a federal court injunction to forbid a strike on the government-operated railroads.

No Strike Order Extended

To insure against a walkout in the meantime, however, the justice department last night obtained from Judge T. Alan Goldsborough a 10-day extension of the no-strike restraining order which halted the threatened rail strike May 11. Goldsborough issued the original order when the unions failed to cancel strike orders after President Truman seized the railroads.

It was understood the justice department asked for a continuance of the restraining order on direct instructions from the White House.

Mr Truman's advisers were said to feel that while a union-government court battle over an injunction should be avoided during the current labor-management negotiations, the government needed protection against a possible sudden rail walkout.

Rail industry negotiators will meet the presidents of the engineers, switchmen and firemens' unions some time today for another bargaining conference.

Rails Offer Stands

The three unions are asking a minimum wage boost of $3 a day plus about 25 changes in working conditions for their 150,000 members.

The railroads have offered a 15½-cent hourly pay increase and 12 changes in working rules—the same settlement suggested by a presidential fact-finding board which studied the dispute last March.

To date, the railroads have publicly insisted they will offer no more than the emergency board recommended. It was understood, however, that while the industry definitely will not increase basic wages more than the 15½ cents-an-hour figure, it is prepared to make some concessions on working rules.

YOUNG FUGITIVE SOUGHT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 19—One of four youths who escaped from a Boys' Industrial school bus here yesterday was still at large today. Authorities identified him as Frank Rush, 19, of Steubenville. Stanley Payne, 17, of Columbus, was arrested in a brother's home here last night. They and two other youths kicked open a safety door on the bus after getting dental treatment at Ohio State university yesterday afternoon Two boys were captured immediately. Twenty-three others made no attempt to escape.

Marion Jaycees Win First In State Safety Contest

The entry of the Marion Junior Chamber of Commerce won the first place award the state Jaycee public safety awards competition held last Saturday at the state Jaycee convention in Hotel Gibson, Cincinnati, it was announced last night by Jack Lautenslager, president of the Marion Jaycees. Occasion for the announcement was the monthly dinner meeting of the Jaycees at the YMCA at which Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith was guest of honor.

Ray Coleman, local Jaycee safety committee chairman was largely responsible for the winning of the state award, Lautenslager said Second award was won by Lima.

The safety competition started May 1, and closed the first of this month. Each month during the year different safety event was orginated and successfully carried out by Chairman Coleman and his committee which included George Wingett, cochairman, Walter Collins, George Schwab and James Osman. All told, 30 of the 65 local Jaycee members took part in putting the award winning campaign over to win.

The first event of the safety program was the distribution of the cartoon safety pamphlet, "Peter and the Whifflehound" which was given to 3,600 Marion school children on May 23, 1947.

"Wait for Light" Campaign

On July 2, 1947, Jaycees started their "wait for the green light at the intersections" campaign by parking a 1912 roadster on the curb in front of the courthouse to remind pedestrians to wait for the green light on the curb, not in the gutter at intersections. Lettered street reminders were also painted at all downtown intersections.

On Aug 6, 1947, Jaycees inspected all playground equipment in Marion and a report of its condition was forwarded to the playground commission for action, the object being to obtain playground safety.

On Aug. 12, 1947, a second campaign for safety at intersection crosswalks was set in motion and still larger street safety signs were painted at dangerous intersections.

August 20-21, the Jaycees sponsored the visit of the Sohio Safety cruiser to Marion. More than 600 Marion drivers were given driving tests and informed of existing physical defects threatening their ability to drive safely.

With the opening of school in September the Jaycees sponsored a radio round table discussion of school safety by the superintendent of schools, a city patrolman, and Mr. Coleman.

During the Christmas holidays 200 safety calenders for 1948 were distributed throughout Marion and the county, with the assistance of Marion police and the sheriff's department.

During fire prevention week last October, Jaycees distributed 59 large fire prevention posters and 25 small ones as part of the annual observance.

Talking Dummies Appear

On Jan. 10, 1948, the famed Marion Jaycee talking dummies made their first appearance at downtown intersections to remind both the pedestrians and motorists of failure to observe safe walking and driving habits. This was by far the most successful safety campaign of the year and attracted not only statewide attention but was a featured item in the first edition of "Flash," the new national safety publication of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In February, Jaycees here conducted a successful campaign to have driver education included in the curriculum of Harding High school next year. Assistance was given by the present and former superintendents of schools and the principal of Harding High. Cooperation in the project was also extended by the Marion Auto club and the Eddie Steele Auto agency.

March saw the "Scotch-lite-a-bike" bicycle safety project introduced to city council by the Jaycees. This was a major factor in arousing interest in a bicycle safety ordinance which is now going through the required preparation before consideration by council.

April 7, the state highway department, at the suggestion of the Jaycees, painted curbs at the Harding memorial as a measure against further accidents at that intersection with state route 23.

On April 10 the "talking dummies" were back in action, this

DEFEAT SEEN FOR U.S PALESTINE PLAN

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, May 19 — A move was reported under way today in the security council to water down an American plan for ending the war in Palestine.

An official in a position to know the sentiment of the 11 council delegates said it was apparent that the United States proposal—which raises the possibility of using an international force—has no chance to pass.

It is understood that efforts will be made when the council meets to strip the resolution of everything except moral authority.

In its final form, the plan may become just another appeal to Jews and Arabs to stop fighting. Three such United Nations pleas have been ignored.

SOVIETS SEE WALLACE AS 'PEACE CHAMPION'

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, May 19—Henry A. Wallace was pictured for Russian readers today as a "champion of peace" and a widely popular figure in the United States.

The newspaper Moscow Bolshevik published an article on Wallace in response to a reader who asked for a definition of the different political parties in the U. S.

"An important feature of the present election campaign," Bolshevik said in its reply, "is that there is a third party on the ballot.

"This is the new Independent Political party standing for defense of the democratic freedom of the American people. Wallace is the champion of the Roosevelt course of American policy. In his speeches Wallace has shown himself the champion of peace and security of the people."

"Everywhere Wallace struggles for a stable peace," Bolshevik continued "for friendship between nations, for close cooperation of the United States with the

CITY ELIGIBLE TO $800,000 HOSPITAL AID

Officials Told This Amount Possible Under U.S. Assistance Program.

Administrators of the federal state hospital construction program yesterday indicated that a federal grant in aid of $800,000 was possible for construction of a new hospital here.

The grant would be $300,000 over the maximum approved to date for construction of hospital facilities in Ohio, a local fact finding committee was told at a conference with the Ohio plan administrators in Columbus

City and county officials met with Dr A. J. Borosky, hospital facilities chief, C. J Mosher and A. M. Settles, hospital facilities construction consultants, to get more details on extent of facilities recommended here under the Ohio plan.

Representing the city were Mayor Harry L Dowler, and council members D R Biggert, and Newton D. Cunningham The county was represented by Commissioners Carl Lehner, William Risch and Luther Mitchell and County Prosecutor James E Reed. Also attending were Dr H K. Mouser of the Marion Academy of Medicine, City Hospital Administrator James A Mautz and Superintendent of Nurses Miss Irene Tinklepaugh

Recommend 150 Beds

It was the recommendation of the state officials that a hospital of not less than 150 beds be built and include a health center facility permitting the community to afford preventative as well as curative treatment.

For a project of this scope, a federal grant in aid of $800,000 would be recommended, largely due to the high priority of need for greater facilities here, it was said The grant would represent a full third of the construction cost exclusive of the site

Amount to be raised locally through a bond issue would be approximately $1,600,000 Total cost of the project would be approximately $2,400,000.

U. S. Official Coming

In connection with location of a new hospital, the local committee was informed that a representative of the U. S surgeon general's office would be in Marion this week inspecting possible locations relative to approval of a site. Federal representatives were said to be in Mansfield today on similar business.

Neither the county commissioners nor city councilmen, who are expected to enter into an agreement on a hospital construction proposal have reached a final decision relative to the amount of funds to be sought here for hospital construction.

None of the local representatives present at the meeting in Columbus indicated to state officials that they thought the recommendation given them was in excess of the need here.

It was indicated today that rough draft of an agreement had been drawn up. Legislation may reach city council for action within a week or two. A request was to be made to County Auditor Harry V. Mounts for computation of millage involved in a levy for a $1,600,000 bond issue.

Lana's Wedding Parson Calls Self "Victim"

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, May 19—Rev. Stewart P. MacLennan says he "was the victim of an unwitting mistake" in officiating at the marriage of Lana Turner and Henry (Bob) Topping last April 26.

"I was unaware that I had breached any rules," the retired pastor of the Hollywood Presbyterian church said last night in announcing he would stand as his own accuser at a hearing of charges brought against him.

This procedure, an official of the Los Angeles Presbytery, said, will eliminate the trial by a judicial commission of ministers and laymen and require only commission deliberation on what form of censure, if any, is to be rendered.

Rev. MacLennan was accused of violating a Presbyterian church decree which forbids a clergyman from marrying divorced persons before a year after divorce. He officiated at the Turner-Topping wedding three days after Topping was divorced by his third wife, Arline Judge. His action drew protests from the Buffalo-Niagara and Oklahoma City presbyteries.

He was enroute to work in Bucyrus at the time. Deer were the first reported seen in Marion county in several years.

RETURNING SUSPECT IN COLUMBUS MURDER

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, O, May 18—Franklin county prosecutor, Ralph J. Bartlett, moved today to extradite former Columbus bartender, Homer Jack Dean, 37, from West Virginia, for the Dec. 10 slaying of real estate dealer Elmo C. Rice, 27.

The widow of the murdered man, now living in Urbana, signed a first-degree murder charge against Dean late yesterday. Her act climaxed almost a week's questioning of Dean by Columbus law officers.

She identified Dean as the man who appeared at her door last December and departed with her husband under the pretext of wishing to buy an automobile Rice offered for sale.

Dean is being held in the Cabell county, W. Va., jail on several charges filed by the FBI and West Virginia authorities. He escaped from the state mental hospital at Huntington and was recaptured May 2 near Ironton.

Rice's bullet-riddled body was found on an Olentangy river bridge north of Worthington several hours after he left home. His car was found later near the Columbus police headquarters.

Dean was first arrested at Kenova, W. Va., Dec. 23 on a bad check charge. Later he was indicted for the $2,200 robbery of a Kenova theater.

LEWIS CALLS IT OFF FOLLOWING VOTE ON MOODY

Opposes Seating Southerner in Conference; Operators Say Situation Serious.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 19—Contract negotiations between John L. Lewis and the coal operators collapsed today.

The two-day-old wage talks broke up over the issue of calling Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers Association in the conference.

The operators voted to eat Moody and Lewis' United Mine Workers voted against it. A vote then was taken on a union proposal to go ahead with conferences covering the balance of the industry

The operators opposed that. The union voted for it.

Lewis got to his feet and said:

"I make the observation that there is now no conference

"The operators have voted themselves and the Mine Workers out of a conference.

"The United Mine Workers policy committee will meet at 10 a. m (9 a. m Marion time) tomorrow."

Quips About Rent

Lewis also quipped that "there's nobody to guarantee the hall rent from now on." This was a reference to joint UMW-operator sharing of costs for a hotel (Shoreham) ballroom where the talks had been held.

Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the mine owners, said after the breakup he thought the situation is "serious".

"Whether this will drift into a strike I do not know," O'Neill told a news conference. He added

"What the government will do about it, I do not know.

"The consequences cannot be guessed. The union left. There is no conference. All negotiations for a contract at this point are stopped. Unless there is a change in positions there will be no negotiations."

O'Neill contended Moody "was here as a proper representative" of operators whose mines produce about 150,000,000 tons of coal yearly.

George Love, Pittsburgh operators, also told the news conference that employers have the legal right to bargain through representatives of their own choosing.

Contract Ends June 30

The union's present wage agreement expires June 30. Traditionally, the miners have refused to work without a contract.

While Lewis yesterday did not make a direct threat of a strike because of what he called a breach of contract, that possibility existed nevertheless.

His call for a meeting of the UMW's 200-man policy committee tomorrow indicated he has some move in mind.

The union still is under a court injunction prohibiting renewal of the recent strike over pensions for miners, but the court might rule that another walkout would be a brand new dispute. In such a case, a new injunction might have to be sought by the government under the Taft-Hartley act procedure.

The government yesterday sought dismissal of the anti-strike injunction, on the grounds that mines are in full production, the pension dispute is being handled in the courts and the public interest is "secure." Feredal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough deferred a ruling on the request.

Moody New in Conference

Moody, center of the dispute at the negotiating conference, is the new president of the Southern Coal Producers association. He never sat in on the negotiations, but Edward R. Burke, former Nebraska senator and Moody's predecessor, was a regular member of the industry-wide negotiating committee.

However, last July Lewis was sore at the Southern association for trying to get a separate contract and he would not permit the association officers to sign the present contract as such.

Instead, he forced the individual groups making up the SCPA to sign separately.

This is why Lewis fought against letting Moody take part in the wage talks as president of the association.

Some operators felt that so long as Lewis made an issue over the point, they probably would not get too far on contract talks at this time anyway.

Had Criticized Lewis

Although a newcomer to the negotiation conferences, Moody has tangled with the United Mine Workers chief before. He charged Lewis with unfair labor practices for not permitting him to attend negotiations during the recent pension dispute.

In addition to Moody's personal fight, the operators maintain that under the Taft-Hartley law Lewis can not dictate who may repre-

Forgotten Gold-Rush Town Rediscovered

By The United Press

PASADENA, Calif.—The town of Whitlock, Calif., virtually forgotten for 50 years, has been rediscovered.

A boom town of the gold rush days, Whitlock was stumbled upon by Mr. and Mrs. Paulsen Visel. The couple became interested in the houses remaining and were able to find the heirs to the property to close a deal for the 103 acres.

Despite the half-century of slumber, no panes were broken, doors swung out on the hinges and the furniture was undisturbed, except for mattresses pack-rats had discovered.

Antique articles discovered by the Visels in their own private "ghost" town include a mustache cup, primitive gold mining equipment, and pieces of glass, china and fine wrought iron."

City Just Isn't, But Has What It Takes

By The United Press

CITRUS CITY, Tex.—This city, which doesn't exist, has a well-named chamber of commerce that doesn't exist either.

Citrus City is an expertly-planned municipality in the Lower Rio Grande valley, but it's only in the blueprint stage.

Howard Moffitt, manager of the Texan Development company, planned the city and is selling lots for $500 each. His "city" includes 760 lots, has a main street 210 feet wide with six parking lanes and all its streets are named after fruit and flowers of the area.

Lot purchasers are advised to grow shrubbery, trees and flowers on their property according to the name of the street they're on.

From each $500 for lots, Moffitt puts $50 into a chamber of commerce fund.

So Citrus City has a chamber of commerce, with every citizen a member.

But it has no residents, and its chamber has nothing. Except money.

Japanese War Brides Barred in Australia

By The United Press

CANBERRA, Australia — No Australian, whether soldier or civilian, who marries a Japanese woman will be allowed to bring her to Australia, the government has ruled.

The federal minister for immigration, A. A. Calwell, said "if an Australian soldier wants to live with the Japanese wife, he could do so in Japan."

He said "no obstacles will be placed in his way of getting passport facilities to leave Australia."

"No Australian woman whose son or husband is buried in New Guinea or some other Pacific battlefield will have her feelings outraged by any Australian who would flaunt a Japanese woman before her eyes," Calwell said.

COMMUNIST MENACE PICTURED TO ROTARY

Work Like Termites in U. S., Says Dr. Bingham.

Declaring that the democratic form of government in the United States is facing a crucial test and that Communists are working like termites to undermine it, Dr. Guy M. Bingham of Wasnington, D. C., told the Marion Rotary club and guests Tuesday that liberty-loving people must join in combatting the threatening elements.

Dr. Bingham, a social and business specialist, spoke on "America Today" in the weekly Rotary luncheon meeting at Hotel Harding.

He advocated making the country strong militarily. "That is the one thing which will bring peace—strength in dealing with Russia. It's the one thing that Russia recognizes," he said.

Dr. Bingham found hope in the evidence that Stalin is trying the same methods that Hitler tried, with complete failure as his reward. Had Hitler worked to make Germany strong within its borders, instead of attempting expansion by gaining control of other countries, he would have achieved success, was the belief voiced by the speaker. He pointed out that Stalin is following the same expansionist program and may meet the same fate.

Dr. Bingham was introduced to his audience by Jay Maish Jr., Rotary program chairman for May.

Tougher Than an Iron Curtain

PREMIER STALIN'S attempt to go over the head of the United States government with a reply to Henry Wallace's proposed basis for negotiations with Russia is a tell-tale sign of bad faith.

It is as if President Truman had made a favorable reply to a similar proposal by a private citizen of the Soviet Union, assuming any Russian would be permitted to address himself to the head of this government without the Kremlin's consent.

Stalin reveals that his intent and the intent of Foreign Minister Molotov's reply to Ambassador Smith's formal assurance that negotiations in good faith are always possible is to make propaganda for Russia. If the Kremlin had acted in good faith its statements would have been made in line with accepted diplomatic procedure.

Fortunately, the American people are protected against that sort of thing by something even tougher to penetrate than an iron curtain. They can hear everything Mr. Wallace has to say about the friend it has found in Mr. Wallace and everything anybody else has to say about either of them without losing the privilege of doing its own collective thinking.

It is chiefly interested in the whole affair as circumstantial evidence that the United States, having made up its collective mind not to appease Russia, has gained the initiative in the worldwide battle for men's minds. It's Russia, for a change, trying to create a favorable impression now, in the face of actions that have spoken louder than its newly sweetened propaganda.

Ancient Acre

A FEW more shell marks on the walls of Acre, occupied by the Jewish army after a 72-hour siege, hardly will be noticed. It is first mentioned in history as a place conquered by the Egyptians about 1315 B.C. Its modern name is an abbreviation of St. Jean D'Acre, derived from its use as headquarters of the Knights Hospitallers during the crusades.

Through its streets have walked conquerors of all eras. Only a few of its historic buildings have withstood the ravages of 3,000 years of strife. The battle of Acre in 1189 is one of the historic patterns of warfare, studied by all thorough scholars of the art of organized violence. Seven thousand men were killed in that battle.

The Holy Land is a disturbing background for war in an age when men dare to dream of peace—disturbing because it reminds all watchers that they are trying to change the course of history itself. But no background, on the other hand, could reveal a stronger reason for wanting to change the course of history. Acre was once a flourishing harbor town in a strong and prosperous civilization. Today it is a ruined settlement far gone in the decay of hopelessness, victim of too many wars and too much waste.

Now You See It, Now You Don't

FRANK J. LAUSCHE'S political secret, aside from his personal charm, has been his ability to convince large numbers of Republicans that he isn't really a Democrat at heart. In the process, he also has convinced large numbers of Democrats.

But now Mr. Lausche, having knocked over the Democratic organization in the recent primary, emerges as the strong man of a new statewide Democratic organization of his own selection. He is no longer a merry iconoclast going his independent way to the despair of the bosses but the head of his own party machine.

It's going to be fun to see how far he can go with his old routine of convincing Ohio Republicans he isn't really a Democrat at heart in his race against Governor Herbert this fall. If Frank Lausche isn't a Democrat at heart in 1948 there ain't no such animal in Ohio.

The Tri-Buck

THE congressman who has proposed a $3 bill in honor of Franklin D. Roosevelt—who was chief executive of the United States three terms and three months of a fourth term—may be on the right track at that. There's a better reason for a $3 bill than a money memorial to a three-term president.

It would bridge the gap in the money spender's scale of values, which is all mixed up right now because of the lingering impression that a dollar doesn't go as far as it used to go. For example, when the spender wanted to buy something "worth a buck"—old style—he could take along a tri-buck and bring home the loose change. A $3 bill would cover the check for a square meal in a modest restaurant with cloths on the table. It would finance an afternoon at a ballgame. It would take a fellow and his gal to the movies, with a sundae afterward and bus fare.

The $2 bill came a cropper because it was nothing but an awkward way to handle the purchasing power of two $1 bills. But a $3 bill in era of inflation would be a substitute for the shrunken purchasing power of its three component parts. The congressman who thought it up may be a more farsighted benefactor of mankind that he thinks he is.

Airplane Serves To Force Union on Western Europe.

THE [illegible] enough [illegible] the Continent [illegible] the second war of 1914-18 to separate Great Britain from the continent of Europe, as long and as effectively as the British chose to be separated. After the development of the airplane, the relative [illegible] of Britain to the continent [illegible] to a point. In the period [illegible] of 1939-45, it disappeared altogether. During this period, Great Britain was able to play a formidable role on the continent of Europe, but she was always able to keep European countries out of her affairs, developing political and social characteristics altogether different from any other country.

SOKOLSKY

Henceforth, Great Britain is forced to be a part of the continent of Europe. It is obvious. Winston Churchill realized the historic fault of the last century when he offered France joint citizenship. The many advocates of a union of countries, such as Union Now, the Federalists and Count Richard Coudenhove-Kalergi, whose ideas are really important, have realized for some time that the airplane has made countries into provinces, that we term Europe, if a balance of power is to be maintained so that no one country dominate the world, has to join in some form of political and economic union. But it must be noted that no such union makes historic sense unless Germany and Austria, Spain, Portugal and Eire are included.

Soviets Have Union

Already Soviet Russia has created such a union in her own federation of Soviet Republics and in the union of communist nations of which Czechoslovakia, spilling into western Europe, and Finland, affiliated with Scandinavia, must now be members. Already the Latin American countries have moved toward a union in a series of conferences sponsored by the United States.

Herbert Hoover and Hugh Gibson, vastly experienced in war and peace, proposed as far back as 1942 that Europeans had to recognize these geographic tendencies and that they ought to form regional groupings within whatever international body came into existence. In their book, "The Problems of Lasting Peace," they said:

"All these nations and peoples of Europe and Asia will insist upon their independence and their own customs. To deny them will bring no lasting peace. But there must needs be better organization of them if they are to keep the peace.

"Certainly, the experience of history, and notably of the last peace, would seem to show at least the desirability of making the independence of these small countries conditional upon their accepting certain definite undertakings to refrain from building up the sort of economic barriers and military action which contributed so powerfully to their own collapse in Europe after the last war.

"Certainly, experience shows that no nation can be punished as a whole and at the same time leave any hope of lasting peace. This endless treadmill of punishment must be stopped in the world if there is to be real peace. Victory with vengeance is ultimate defeat in the modern world.

Peace or Revenge

"We can have peace or we can have revenge, but we cannot have both.

"They advocated proposals that each great region of the earth should separately organize its own preservation of order while cooperating in Pacific settlement through some form of the league, council of nations, or other world organization for pacific settlements."

Those ideas were extremely unpopular when they were promulgated, and have been anathema to our state department for many years. Yet, today, they are accepted and are official policy. In fact, the only constructive proposal in recent years has been the organization of the western bloc of states, including Germany, which both Churchill and Bevin support, and which Marshall and Vandenberg now advocate. It started with the Benelux countries, that is the union of Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, and it is now proposed to expand that concept to all the ERP countries and Germany.

American policy has now been moved in line to support this concept and there is even talk of providing for it military guarantees, which is premature and unnecessary. An effective union could defend itself and would inevitably have American support, without guarantees, if the union were so conducted as to justify its existence.

Warren of California

By Raymond Moley

SACRAMENTO — When Robert C. Sproul, president of the University of California, places Governor Earl Warren in nomination at the Philadelphia Republican convention, the country will realize that a really formidable candidate has appeared on the scene.

In 1944, Warren did not seek the nomination and did not seem to want it. He was the favorite for vice president, but firmly refused. Things are different now. He still does not want the second place, but he is an active, serious candidate for president. Warren, as well as every one of his supporters, is imbued with a feeling that time and circumstance will be favorable.

MOLEY

Throughout his career Warren has shown an excellent sense of timing which, in politics, is indispensable. His judgment about when and how to run for the various offices he has won has always been justified by the result. In 1944 he refused the nomination for vice president despite the urging not only of his delegation but of Candidate Dewey. His reason was that his candidacy would hurt, not help, the national ticket in California, because the people of that state expected him to finish the job to which he had been elected two years before. This decision was probably right in principle. Certainly, it was practical in the light of the result in November.

Warren has never been defeated for public office. He took his time about seeking a state office while he held the position of district attorney in Oakland for 13 years. On the other hand, he has maintained no coy reluctance to announce his candidacy this year such as has characterized the attitude of Senator Vandenberg.

Goes Own Way

While Taft, Stassen and Dewey are tearing each other apart, Warren is pursuing his own course. It can be categorically denied that anything like a deal with any other candidate exists. It has been rumored that Stassen or Taft would make him attorney general. Such rumors are, it should be added, not the personal suggestions of Stassen or Taft. The answer is that Warren has a better job now than that of attorney general. It has also been rumored that an emissary of Dewey has seen Warren in Sacramento. Warren has seen no such person. Other rumors of this sort will pop up and they can be ignored. Warren is running only for the presidency.

People inimical to Warren will say he is not a good party man, that he has campaigned as an independent and that he has been successful in both Republican and Democratic primaries. The habit of running in both primaries is indigenous to California. Everybody does it. Warren's attitude toward the Republican regulars in his state has been kindly but firm. He has had no spectacular battles with his party, as Franklin Roosevelt had in New York. But he has insisted on being his own governor, and now the party regards him as its authentic leader.

Availability

Warren's supporters make several major points for his availability as a candidate. He is calm, logical and judicial in approaching problems of government. As an administrator, he takes plenty of time in appointing a department head and then expects that department head to exercise the same care in selecting people for the lower levels of government. Since his graduation from law school, Warren has given his life entirely to public service. This is, of course, true also of Stassen and Dewey, but Warren has been at it longer. This primary concern with government as a career has developed in him a profound sense of the public interest, as distinguished from piecemeal concerns with the many separate and special interests which collectively make up the public.

The roots of Warren's life are in labor. But as governor he has attempted to induce labor to see its interest in the light of a larger public interest. Despite the pressure of labor leaders, he permitted an anti-secondary boycott bill to become law, and he signed a bill outlawing jurisdictional strikes. He then went before a labor convention and appealed successfully to the rank and file over the heads of the leaders.

To repeat, these are some of the points that will be made in behalf of Warren as a presidential candidate.

Even the Russians Deserve Better

The Soviet supreme court has ruled that Russian wives can sue their husbands for alimony and division of property without suing for divorce.

Russia is the land where all men are equal . . . but not to women.

The female of the species is more unreasonable than the male. This was never more clearly demonstrated than by this court ruling that men can be made to bear all the expenses of divorce . . . with out any of the benefits.

If a woman is going to take a man's alimony, the least she can do is give him his name back.

Talk about man's inhumanity to man . . . What about woman's?

Small wonder that from every side in Russia, one can hear the down-trodden male declare: "Things will be different, Comrade . . . Come the Revolution!"

Give Way There!

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, May 19, 1938.

Informed officials tentatively forecast a $3,400,000,000 federal deficit in the fiscal year which was to begin July 1, as a result of the huge spending-lending program pending in congress.

Dr. E. L. Brady was reelected president of the Ohio Public Health association in the closing session of the annual convention at Columbus.

C. A. Middleton of Findlay, 23, stopped in Marion to pick up mail in the city's first airmail shipment. The trip, which began at Findlay and touched Upper Sandusky, Galion and other cities in this vicinity, was in observance of national air mail week and the twentieth anniversary of the inauguration of the regular airmail service in the United States.

Mrs. Cora Welch of South Vine street left for Cedarville, Mich. where she planned to spend the summer at her cottage.

Mrs. Carl Van Voorhis was elected president of the Women's Auxiliary to Dyer J. Bird Post, Ohio Rainbow Division.

Mrs. John Koenig of Olney avenue was hostess when the Child Research club entertained with a guest party.

The war in Spain was not a Spanish war but a European war fought in that country Miss Imogene Warder of Hollywood, Calif. told members of the Kiwanis club at their weekly luncheon. Miss Warder had been in Spain a year when the revolution broke out.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, May 19, 1928.

The county auditor received 13 bids on proposed improvement of the Ququa ditch from a point a short distance from Marion to its outlet in the Whetstone river. The three lowest bids combined made a total of $25,868.

Marion was host to the annual three-day state convention of the Knights of Columbus starting Saturday. L. A. Axe of Marion, district deputy, was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. John Belt of Nye street and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rubins of Hane avenue.

Mrs. Griselda Davis Dombaugh of East Church street, state president of Altrusa club, and Miss Edith Eibling of Bain avenue, member of the national executive board, were attending the national Altrusa convention in Indianapolis.

Misses Louise Neal of East Church street and Beatrice Whitesamire of South Prospect street and Paul Neal of Akron left on a motor trip to Memphis, Tenn., to visit relatives and friends.

William A. Jones, former Marion resident and father of Mrs. C. H. Conley of Girard avenue, died at his home in Huntington, Ind. at the age of 77.

The approaching marriage of Miss Nell Mae Sampson to Charles M. Dunn of Kermit, W. Va., was announced at a dinner given by Miss Sampson's mother, Mrs. Frederick C. Sampson, at her home on South Prospect street.

Running on a muddy track and in what was declared to be one of the most mediocre entrant lists in Kentucky Derby history, Reigh Count won the annual race classic, finishing three lengths ahead of Misstep, the second horse. Toro was third. The time was 2:10 2-5.

And That Was Politics!

Seven Dark Horses Have Beaten the Favorites.

THE Republican and Democratic parties have held 40 national nominating conventions since the end of the Civil War.

In 30 of the conventions, one candidate was so far out in front before the convention started that the only question was which one of the early ballots would clinch the nomination. In 12 of the 30 instances, the nominee was the incumbent chief executive running for re-election.

In three instances, the nomination went to one of the leading pre-convention candidates who stood first or second on the first ballot:—William J. Bryan in 1896, Woodrow Wilson in 1912, James Cox in 1920. Bryan's "cross of gold" speech is credited with panicking the convention but the fact that he had built up an organization to win the nomination and was favored throughout the Middle West and the South.

In the other seven nominating conventions since the Civil War the prize went to a compromise candidate after all of the pre-convention leaders had been knocked out of the running. The "dark horses" were as follows:

Seymour, Democrat, in 1868. Convention deadlocked for more than 20 ballots among Hancock, Pendelton and Hendricks. On the 22nd ballot some votes were cast for the first time for Horatio Seymour, the convention chairman; thereupon he was chosen in a stampede.

Hayes, Republican, in 1876. Chosen on the 7th ballot, after Blaine and anti-Blaine forces had fought each other to a standstill. Stood fifth on the first ballot, when more than two-thirds of his votes were from his own state of Ohio.

Garfield, Republican, in 1880. Nominated on the 36th ballot, after a deadlock among Grant, Blaine, and Sherman. Was convention floor manager for Sherman, received no votes at all on the first ballot, only two as late as the 30th.

Harrison, Republican, in 1888. Convention wide open, no candidate got as much as 30 per cent of the votes on first three ballots. Harrison stood fifth on first ballot, moved into second place on 4th, took lead on the 7th, chosen on 8th.

Harding, Republican, in 1920. Three leading candidates, Wood, Lowden, Johnson, killed one another on early ballots. Harding named on 10th.

Davis, Democrat, in 1924. For over 100 ballots convention deadlocked between McAdoo and Smith. Davis named on 103rd ballot.

Willkie, Republican, in 1940. Nominated on 6th ballot. On first, had 105 votes to 360 for Dewey, 189 for Taft. Willkie went ahead of Taft on third ballot, took the lead on fourth when Dewey fell from first to third.

Jericho's Past

Jericho, the ancient city which the Bible says was conquered and cursed by Joshua, lies just inside the Palestine border, about 20 miles west of Amman, Trans-Jordan.

The Bible says Joshua and his priests marched around the city six times, blowing trumpet blasts. On the seventh day, the walls crumbled and Joshua's men fell upon the inhabitants and slew them, all but Rahab and the occupants of her house.

History says this occurred in 1451 B. C., and that despite Joshua's curse on any man who tried to rebuild it, the city was rebuilt in 951 B. C.

It was at Jericho that the Babylonians scattered Zedekiah's army, the Bible says, and brought an end to the kingdom of Judah. It was at Jericho that Herod, king of Judea at Christ's birth, spent his winters, tradition says.

It saw the Crusades come and go, and it figured in World War I. The British took it from the Turks in 1918. It has changed its original site several times.

Frightened Elephants

By International News Service

MONTREAL, Canada—The airplane has invaded the home of the elephants. Sir William Hildred, director general of the International Air Transport Association, disclosed recently that a request had been received from the East African Airways Corporation asking airlines to have their planes fly higher when flying over Uganda, Kenya, and Tanganyika. The request said that the planes, which usually fly about 1500 feet high, have frightened the elephants in those areas as well as herds of giraffe, buck and other wild African game.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

A Strike To End All Strikes

The other day a bakers' strike threatened to cut off the supply of rolls for baseball parks. Whether it ever happens or not, the one strike that could impress the American public as really serious. A summer without frankfurters and rolls in this country would be the straw that broke the camel's back.

We would definitely place such a strike in the photo finish with a railroad strike in point of public concern. We would give it two lengths over a coal strike and away out ahead of all other labor disturbances.

PHILLIPS

The moment the possibility of a hot dog suspension was mentioned, America had one thought: will the frankfurters go out in sympathy and are the mustard men satisfied?

There arose, too, the question of picketing. Could a hamburger cross a hot dog picket line?

Frank Stevens, whose catering company sells more hot dogs in the ball parks and race tracks of America than any other, seemed visibly shaken. "I hope such a crisis as now threatens this country can be averted," he said. "The world cannot exist half hot dog and half hamburger."

His brother Harry said, "We are watching Washington for a frankfurter and roll policy. The matter clearly comes under the Taft-Hartley act. I think that in any such strike the mediation board should act at once and be required to meet in the left field bleachers in its shirtsleeves."

• • •

President Truman declared "The world knows how the Democratic party feels about frankfurters and rolls. As long as I am in the White House—and I hope it will certainly cover the rest of the summer—I shall strive to see that every American gets a hot dog when he wants it as guaranteed in the bill of rights. The whole thing looks like a Republican plot."

Henry Wallace came arunning with this statement: "There need not be any war between the roll bakers and the people of America. I have written a letter to the all-hot industry inviting it to sit down and talk things over. There need be no ideological differences between a baseball fan and a baker but neither wants to go to war."

General Marshall called a press conference and announced: "All I ask is that in this matter nobody on either side will start exchanging views on the quiet."

• • •

Elmer Dyetchell, representing the baseball fans, said, "I can stand almost any labor trouble up to a point. And that point is reached when a hot frankfurter is handed to me with no roll. The time has come to end all nonsense. In such crisis threatening a basic industry and basic appetite I would call on the government to take over not only the bakeries, but the baseball parks, and summer resorts."

I love little England,
Its grass is so green,
In fact of all grass its
As good as I've seen

Its flowers are pretty,
So fresh and so new,
And Henry J. Topping

The curious thing about the new film 'The Iron Curtain' is that while it is based completely on facts and evidence, it is being criticized as something that could only happen in the movies.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: Sometimes a poor old farmer like me has to stop and wonder who's crazy now. Such as when a labor leader bellows preferably on a coast-to-coast hookup or at the very least in his union publication—that he is not a Communist. This is very stylish right now. Formerly, when John L. Lewis and some of the master minds of the union organizers were breathing close to the commies it wasn't so stylish.

What fascinates me is the bellowing. It's the formula..."I am not a Communist, but..." Then they go on to explain what they mean, and I hope no one will hold it against me if I don't see any difference between what they mean and what a Communist means. If a farmer may be permitted to get a word in edgewise, I don't see any difference between a holdup man and a fellow who says, "I am a holdup man, but fork over your wallet."

These fellows who are always saying, "I am not a Communist but..." are just as helpful on getting rid of the private enterprise system that makes a living for them as the card-bearing members of the commie cult—according to what they say. I am not putting any words in their mouths. I am just taking the words out of their mouths, their own words. They are dead set, they say, against investors in business entitled to getting anything out of their investment. They use all the dirty words that card-bearing Communists use to smear people who save their money to buy the machinery to make jobs possible. They never miss a chance to put in a plug for public ownership and they want to hasten that evil day by clobbering private enterprise with taxation that will kill private initiative if they keep it up long enough.

They keep grinding the ax for political control of the lives and affairs of individuals. They climb over one another to show how eager they are to foul up everything they can reach in the national economy, which is sure as shootin' what I'd do, too, if I was minded to bellow "I am not a Communist but..." And before you accuse me of blackening the fair cause of anti-communist patriots, let me hasten to explain I'm not talking about all union leaders, only the ones that go bellowing, "I am not a Communist but..." I'm just suggesting this usually is an introduction to a gush of 100-proof Communist propaganda. Next time you run across some of it, match it with what William Z. Foster, Earl Browder and the rest of the boys are saying. Don't take my word for it. Reach your own conclusions. Figure out what you'd do if you "were not a Communist but... Then look at what they actually are doing.

I'm fed up on characters in this country who can't even get a hearing unless they preface it with "I am not a Communist but..." then proceed to prove they share every conviction of the card-bearing Communists. I'd have more respect for 'em if they'd admit they're commies and be done with it from there. I could respect their honesty. That is more than I can say now. Sorry to let my feelings get carried away, but it always happens when I think the dignity of human beings is being affronted by people who tell shadow stories to make themselves seem more respectable than they really are. Give my regards to the rest of the Cotton Corners.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — The [illegible] with push button war, a push button peace. [illegible] these new fangled [illegible]—the buzz bomb [illegible]. Every big country [illegible] its straining their [illegible] time trying to figure [illegible] to make them more [illegible] ...ming electric boomerangs do promise to take a lot of exercise and hardship out of war. The top brass in all lands, the generals who rein a swivel chair, the admirals whose deck is a desk, can push buttons all day in their offices and still get home for the cocktail hour.

Hal Boyle

The guided missiles would do the work. The only combat equipment needed by the men who pushed the buttons would be thumb guards to save wear and tear on their pinkies.

But why develop guided missiles just to send them off to battle? Has the airplane done more good carrying people or bombs? Armies could invent a machine to hurl apartment houses at their foes, but isn't it more fun just to live in them?

GUIDED MISSILES are gadgets with a real peacetime future. Here are a few suggestions offhand:

First they must be made small enough to fit into a pocket and equipped with a radio telephone device.

Cowboys then would be independent of saddle sores. They could press a button and lie in their bunks and read western story magazines while the faithful little guided missile zoomed out to round up the cattle in the south 40-mile pasture. All the cowboys would have to do would be to hum into the transmitter occasionally, "Git along, little dogies, git along."

A housewife could send them out to shoo away strange dogs, peddlers and annoying bill collectors. She wouldn't have to miss her favorite soap opera by going out to look for "junior." Any guided missile worth its fuel would not only go and find the rascal—it would butt him in the rear until he came home.

THESE LOYAL mechanisms also could be used to call taxis on a rainy day, to protect banks against robbers, fight burglars and trail and photograph errant husbands.

Of course there might be abuses at first. City wolves could sit at their windows and send the innocent missiles out to whistle at pretty girls. The boss could have them wing around the office checking up on the hired help. A dodger fan might break up a critical baseball game by sending a missile out to snag a ninth inning flyball. Advertisers might have them cluster around people in the street, saying over and over: "Look at your gums. Awful. When're you going to start using mellow molar toothpaste?"

But these problems could be corrected by congress.

THE GUIDED missile would be worth it if only for the fact that it provides civilization a way to attract the attention of a waiter. And what a boon to the motorist bawled out by a traffic cop! He could roar out that killing last line he thought up after leaving the scene. Back would zip the missile and nag the cop purple while the motorist drove on in chuckling safety.

We need a push button peace. And we need it bad. But for heaven's sake if we get it—don't guide any missiles my way. I'll be busy pushing buttons myself for the first ten years.

FEDERAL TAX CUT PROGRAM MAPPED

Chamber of Commerce Head Reports Plans.

COLUMBUS, O., May 19—If the present federal tax reduction is to be retained, and any new tax reduction obtained by individuals and corporations, there must be substantial slashes in non-essential federal expenditures, President C. J. Weaver of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce said today.

Mr. Weaver's statement accompanied announcement of a long-range federal tax-reduction program which he said was ready for presentation to congress. The program also incorporates a plan for reduction of unnecessary federal spending.

These current goals of business are outlined in a "Program for Federal Finances," as developed by the Ohio Chamber in collaboration with 27 other state chambers throughout the nation. The program emphasizes federal finances as a whole, rather than federal taxes alone, Mr. Weaver pointed out. "The Ohio Chamber," he said, "recognizes the inseparable relation between tax revenue and government expenditures."

Eventual reduction of personal income tax rates to 15 per cent, or less, at the starting point, and 50 per cent in the top income bracket, and eventual reduction of maximum corporation income tax rates from 38 to 32 per cent and later to 25 per cent, or less, were among the individual and business tax reforms advocated in the program.

The recommendations, Mr. Weaver said, are based upon the need and opportunity for further substantial reduction of federal expenditures.

To this end, the program calls for reduction of the federal budget to a level of $25,000,000,000 or less, together with retirement of the national debt at the rate of at least $2,500,000,000 a year.

Through the elimination of public waste and non-essential federal expenditures, it was explained in the program, the debt can be cut down substantially and consistently, and taxes can be reduced to a bearable level for everyone.

"The key to lower taxes, debt reduction, and economic progress through competitive private enterprise is a substantially lower federal budget," it was stated.

The program will be presented soon to congress by C. D. Laylin, general counsel of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, and chairman of the federal taxation section of the National Association of State Chambers of Commerce.

Lillian D. Wald, famed American sociologist, is credited with the foundation of public health nursing.

Claridon Alumni Association To Meet

The Claridon High School Alumni association has announced its annual banquet for Saturday at 7 p. m. in the form of a pot-luck dinner in the school auditorium. Members of the association and invited guests will attend. A program will follow dinner, with Dr. Walter D. McClaskey of Pleasant township as the speaker. Special music will be by members of the association, and folk dancing will conclude the program. Members of this year's high school graduating class and the teacher who started them in their first year of school in 1936, Miss Lois Roberts, first and second grade teacher, will be honored. It was her first year of teaching. Program chairman is Miss Mary Ellen Price. Merle Lashey, class of 1942, is the alumni president, and Mrs. Betty Cook is secretary.

Fifty-three served time and $1,104.50 was turned over to the municipal court representing fines paid the sheriff.

Cash book at the end of the two months period showed receipts of $5,585 representing fees and services from the municipal court, common pleas court and courts of other counties. Meals served prisoners during March and April totalled 3,391. Legal papers served totalled 374.

Disposition of cases included two to Ohio penitentiary, three to Mansfield reformatory, two to state hospital, two to Lima hospital, six to the Columbus workhouse, two to veterans hospital at Chillicothe and five returned to Marion county on warrants.

SEABEE AUXILIARY

A social meeting of the Marion chapter and the auxiliary have been planned for Thursday at 8 p. m. at the VFW clubrooms. James O'Laughlin, delegate to the recent national Sea Bee convention at Chicago, will report on his trip. To date, both the Sea Bee organization and auxiliary has been set up with temporary officers, and it was stated that all former Sea Bees are urged to attend Thursday night, accompanied by the prospective auxiliary members, so that permanent officers may be elected.

GALION, May 19—A petition from the Galion Ministerial Association requesting passage of an ordinance to close establishments selling beer and intoxicating liquor on Sunday in Galion, the passage of the motor vehicle light rate ordinance here Tuesday night, and the creation of a position of superintendent of the City hospital highlighted the otherwise routine session of City council Tuesday night.

The petition from the ministers which was referred to City Solicitor George Davies, stated petitions Council of Galion to enact an ordinance requiring all establishments that sell beer or intoxicating beverage to close at midnight Saturday and remain closed through Sunday until 1:00 a.m. Monday.

Cites Complaints

After some discussion in which a councilman cited that he didn't think council could act against the state law which permits selling 3.2 beer on Sunday, a

Shortages Still Hurt Industrial Output

The Manufacturer's Council of the Marion Chamber of Commerce reported no easing of the critical shortage of pig iron and other steel products essential to local industry in the weekly report of local business read at the meeting Monday noon at Hotel Harding. Aside from these shortages the representatives of the 21 industrial firms in attendance reported local business conditions remain normally healthy and continued demand for locally made products gives promise of continued good local business conditions.

Plans were discussed for the annual dinner meeting of the council, to be held this year at the Marion country club the night of June 15.

The council expects to send a representative to the forthcoming meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce "American Opportunity" meeting to be held at the Palmer House in Chicago next week. No decision has reached as to whom the representative will be.

The Communist party, on the other hand, claims only 40,000 fee paying members. Labor sources doubted that figure. They pointed out that Communist leaders claimed an increase of 8,000 members in 1947, but failed to state how many had left the party in the same period.

BLIND HUNTER — Despite the fact that he has been unable to see since a horse kicked him in 1919, Tom Hopkins of Paden, Okla., spends much of his time hunting with his well-trained dogs. He rarely returns without game. He draws a bead on squirrels and other game by sound alone and doesn't miss very often. Between hunting trips he practices shooting at tin cans, locating them by having friends drop pebbles on them. At 20 paces he seldom misses a can.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

LILLIAN looked around the room as she put her query, but I noticed that she did not let her glance rest on Mary and knew that she shared my knowledge that Dicky's niece was nostalgically grateful to her uncle for defending Georges. Mary said nothing, but Katharine's reply was prompt, and held a touch of malice. She never has liked Georges.

"Far be it from me to impugn your veracity, Dicky-bird," she said, "and I rarely have known you to be mistook in your judgments. So, all I'm saying is that I'll accept the astounding statement you've just made, but I hope nobody will flay me for expressing the wish to have seen that look of suffering in our royal playboy's eyes. That must have been something for the book."

"It was," Dicky said shortly, and I knew that irrationally, and manlike, having once taken up Georges' cause he was annoyed at Katharine's carping. Harry Underwood's keen black eyes went swiftly from Katharine's face to Dicky's, and his lazy drawl sent us all into relieving laughter again.

"I suppose I might as well call off those alienists and guards," he said. "You've proved your point. You've convinced even me. These women"—his voice held contemptuous indulgence—"don't count. They always believe the last good-looking man who's talking."

"I suppose," his wife said sweetly, "that means you're expecting us to swoon at your words."

"Of course," he agreed with a grin. "But, Dicky-bird, I'm telling you I'm greatly relieved. It looks as though we were going to have a real civilized little wedding party instead of a knock-down-an-drag-out affair."

"I don't envy you your session with Olina later this morning," Katharine commented. "She's keen, that girl. She's going to suspect Georges' sudden admiration for Noel's brilliant musical talents."

"No, she isn't," I said with a smug smile. "Georges already has provided for that contingency."

"How?" they chorused.

"By asking me to make Olina believe that the scheme to have have Noel attend to the music was my own brain wave," I told them, "and that after seeing the beautiful friendship between Georges, and Mr. 'K' I should suggest the FBI man as best man."

"We've been undervaluing that lad," Lillian said with decision. "He's an S.O.D."

"Sure you haven't got your letters mixed?" her husband asked slyly, but she withered him with a look.

"Those stand for 'Solver of Difficulties,'" she said with dignity. "They ought to grab him down in Washington."

"I'll drop a word in Truman's ear about him," Harry said, and then Dicky gave me a significant look.

"I don't want to seem inhospitable," he said, "but Madge has a big day ahead of her tomorrow, so if you can park yourselves in various beds around the place, I'll see that she's tucked in."

"In other words, get the hell out of here," Harry said. "Well, as it happens we're going to park ourselves in our beds at home. We just stayed here to get the latest low down. Now that we have that, we scorn you and your hospitality. Come on, Lil, let's get going."

"In a second," his wife told him comfortably, and then she went into a huddle with Katharine, Mary and me, while Dicky and Harry began one of their interminable colloquies.

"We really were going home," Lillian said. "But let us know if there's anything you want us to do about the wedding, or anything else."

"What wedding?" my small daughter, Faith, asked from the doorway.

MONEY FLOWS FROM TAX CUT

New Capital, Especially from Upper Brackets, Available for Expansion.

(Following is the second of two articles on the effect of $1½ billion annual increase in the naton's pay envelopes which went into effect this month.)

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 19—Stock and bond salesmen would like to talk to the taxpayers who will save $4½ billion this year through Federal income tax cut.

Industry has been having its troubles recently in raising "new money" in the investment market. It needs the money for expansion of its plant. It wants "risk capital" for new industries, for development of old ones, for taking "a reasonable chance" in new fields.

Of late it has been getting too much of its capital needs from the insurance companies. Many observers think it would be healthier to get a larger proportion from individual investors.

Last year industry raised $4,100,000,000 in new capital. But it sold $3 billion of these new security issues, or 73 per cent, to life insurance companies. In 1946 they took $2 billion of the $2 1/3 billion total, or 87 per cent.

Emil Schram, president of the New York Stock Exchange, thinks this is a dangerous tendency. He wants the public to buy stocks and bonds and hence become the owners of the nation's business concerns.

Stock and bond salesmen don't expect too much from the 52,110,600 who last year paid taxes on net incomes under $5,000. While their savings this year totals $2,225,700,000, their personal budgets are too tight under today's high prices to leave much for investing in "risk capital."

The portion of the relieved taxpayers that industry is particularly interested in are the 2,417,200 who made $5,000 or more last year. They paid $8,220,100,000 in income taxes. This year they will pay $1,347,890,000 less.

Some underwriters contend that high taxes in the upper brackets have left little money available for the new capital issues they offer. At the same time, certainty of high taxes on any profits from the new venture has dampened enthusiasm for taking the risk.

Believe Capital Released

They think more "idle money" for financing America's industrial expansion will now be available from tax savings in the upper brackets.

Some of the risk capital could come from the $318,200,000 to be saved this year by the 1,574,100 taxpayers whose net income last year was $5,000 to $10,000.

More likely source is the $454,900,000 tax savings of the 668,800 who made $10,000 to $25,000, and the $574,700,000 savings of the 170,200 whose incomes topped $25,000—there were about 100 who made a million dollars or more.

There will also be $199,100,000 saved in estate and gift taxes.

All of this is computed by the national industrial conference board on the basis of an expected $208 billion personal income total this year.

Big business itself may use some of its own tax savings for increasing dividends to stockholders. However, it has indicated most of it will go into expansion programs, if mounting cost of materials and labor hasn't eaten it up first.

HONOR SCHOOL PATROL

GALION—The Schoolboy Patrol was honored at the final meeting of the year of the West Elementary and Junior High P.-T. A. this week. The school patrol has functioned in Galion under sponsorship of the Galion Automobile club for at least 17 years with an enviable safety record: no accidents to school children where the patrol has been on duty at street crossings in school zones. Rev. Herbert S. Garnes Jr., pastor of First Lutheran church, spoke. Mrs. William MacAdam was re-seated as president.

HEPBURN DIES IN CRASH—Ralph Hepburn, famous Van Nuys, Calif., race driver, was killed in Indianapolis when the Novi grooved piston special he was driving crashed on the northeast turn of the 500-mile motor speedway, during a practice run. AAA officials and mechanics look over the wreckage above.

In Plain Words By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

WHY has the country so far thrown cold water on the idea of sitting down with Russia to work out world peace?

Maybe this will explain it.

In the past week the Russians—Premier Stalin and Foreign Minister Molotov — have expressed willingness to sit down and talk with us.

President Truman froze up. So did Secretary of State Marshall. And yesterday the state department chilled the idea some more. Why?

James Marlow

Put in plain language, this is what the United States has told Russia:

We're not going to talk with you head-to-head on things that affect other countries or the world.

If you want to talk about something that affects just you and us—like trade between us—that's all right.

But if you want to talk about things affecting other countries, then they're going to take part in our talks.

(For example: Any talks about a peace treaty on Germany would have to include us, Russia, Britain and France. All have an interest in it.)

And, further, this country told Russia:

There are all kinds of machinery—like the United Nations—already set up for talking about world problems and trying to settle them.

If you really want to settle them, then do the settling inside the United Nations or through whatever machinery covers the problem.

ON MAY 11 HENRY WALLACE, campaigning for President on a third party ticket, addressed an open letter to Stalin.

In it Wallace listed a number of points, or problems, as a basis for talks between this country and Russia to settle world peace.

And on May 17 Stalin issued a public statement in which he said the Wallace points were a good starting place for such talks.

How did the state department react to that? Briefly, it said:

The points which Wallace and Stalin consider a basis for peace talks are not new points, they're old, and—

This country, Russia and other countries have been talking about them and trying to settle them for a long time. And—

They're not just points that affect just the U. S. and Russia. They affect other countries and the whole world.

In short, the department was saying that if Stalin really wants to get those long-discussed points settled, let him get busy and settle them.

AS AN EXAMPLE, the department pointed to the control of atomic energy. That's been booted around in the United Nations a couple of years.

This country long ago offered a plan for international control of atomic energy through the UN.

Russia didn't quite like our plan and offered some ideas of her own in the UN for control of the atom.

The UN atomic energy commission—the U. S. and Russia are members—and some subcommittees were set up to work out an agreement.

About 200 meetings were held. Still no agreement. Two days ago the commission just suspended further talks, Why?

The state department blames the failure on Russia and says Russia blocked proposals that nine other nations on the commission were willing to accept.

AS ANOTHER EXAMPLE, this country points out what Russia did about the Marshall plan for helping European countries recover from war.

Under that plan, this country is to pour billions of dollars of help into Europe. Russia was asked to take part in this European relief.

But Russia not only refused to take part but is eager to wreck the plan.

All this so far has been the American viewpoint. The Russians have a viewpoint of their own. For example:

In his answer to Wallace Stalin spoke of the need for helping Europe recover from the war—but through the "United Nations."

That's his way of saying that if America talks of what should be done about using the machinery already set up for world peace—like the United Nation—then the U. S. ought to use some of that machinery itself.

He politely told the U. S. that if we really want to help Europe then we, ourselves, should make better use of the UN.

Henry Wallace, too, said this country should have given its European relief through the UN, not single-handedly through the Marshall plan.

Babe's in the Tub

A baby should associate his bath with a pleasant time. Soap in the form of animals or boats may be an added inducement of fun in the bath.

At all times, the temperature of the water should be taken to see that it is neither too hot nor too cold. The very young baby should be held firmly by the mother so that fear of slipping will not prejudice the child against his bath.

HUBER FOREIGN SALES EXPAND

Employee Magazine Tells of Department Now Reaching 50 Countries.

The relatively new export department of the Huber Manufacturing Co., a foreign sales organization which now is carrying on a relatively active business on a continuous basis through a network of dealer organizations covering some 50 countries, is featured in an article in the May issue of The Huber News, the employee magazine of the Huber Co. Established less than three years ago as an independent sales unit, the foreign sales of the department have increased each year. The foreign department is now situated in large new quarters at the plant which enable Willis Nye, export manager, to meet and confer with visitors from other lands.

Many Visitors Greeted

Visits from dealers in foreign lands form an important part of the work of the export department. Last year, persons from 19 different foreign countries visited the Huber Co. For the most part, they were representatives of Huber dealer organizations. But they included representatives from consular establishments and embassies of foreign nations.

An interesting and attractive feature of the department's new quarters is a display of flags of the approximately 50 nations in which Huber dealer companies are located. A photograph of this display and Miss Juanita Augenstein, personal secretary in the department, appears on the cover of this current issue of The Huber News.

Photographs of Mr. Nye, Ray Baldauf, assistant to Mr. Nye, and a view of the new quarters of the department, accompany the article in the magazine.

Performing a vital function in the export business is the freight forwarding firm, which for The Huber Co. is Hasman and Baxt Inc. with offices in New York City. A description of what the freight forwarding firm does is carried in the magazine in conjunction with the article on the export department.

The freight forwarder handles the problem of shipment of a machine from New York to its foreign destination, and its operations are a definitely essential phase of the export business. The freight forwarding firm must be certain that all shipping requirements are complied with, so that when the shipment reaches its destination, the dealer in the foreign country concerned will have no difficulty in obtaining the materials.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Children With Cerebral Palsy

The parents of a child with cerebral palsy or brain injury are to be pitied no less than the child himself but at the same time they should be taught the futility of despair. They can well be encouraged by the progress now being made in the training of such children for normal life. Such training may take a long time but if persisted in with patience, it will bring improvement.

This condition, may be due to one of two causes— birth injuries which result in hemorrhage into the brain or poor development of the central nervous system before birth. In either case the child will be handicapped by some disturbance in his ability to use his muscles in a normal manner. Movement of the arms or legs is often distorted but other parts of the body may be affected too, as, for example, the muscles used in speech.

Much study has been devoted to this condition in an effort to find some way of overcoming the damage to the nervous system, but, as yet, no method of doing this has been discovered. Thus, treatment of these children must be confined to training them in proper patterns of muscular movement.

The measures employed include physical therapy, control of every-day activities, treatment of the speech, and directing the child's occupations, and his school work.

In carrying out a program along these lines, the first step is a careful examination to determine just what the child is able to do in ordinary every-day life; that is, whether or not he can sit on a chair, stand, or walk. Then his muscles are tested to see just how much improvement is possible.

Following this appraisal of the child's abilities, he is given training in breathing, swallowing and systematic movements. Included, also, are correction of posture and the removal of faulty habits of muscle movement. Various games and sports, played with the child, are also a helpful part of the program of training. Such things as hopping, ball-throwing, and this, self-feeding, dressing, brick-building, typewriting, and gardening may be employed to further the child's training.

The parents of a child with cerebral palsy should not be discouraged because, as time passes, gradual improvement will occur if the proper training program is carried out.

Questions and Answers

M. E. A.: For four months, the joints in my fingers are painful. The joints turn blue and swell overnight. What is causing this? I am only thirty years old.

Answer: It is likely that the condition is due to arthritis or inflammation of the joints, or to what is known as Raynaud's disease.

A study by your physician would be advisable.

Smartness Calls For Glass House Living

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO — An authority on community planning says that home builders who abandon "outmoded tradition" are putting money in their own pockets.

Frank Sohn, a housing expert, believes that "keeping up with the architectural Joneses" helps protect the value of a home builder's property.

"Today's outstanding development in home design is the sensible use of glass to create a new concept of indoor-outdoor living," Sohn says.

"The builder who plans a house with old style, small windows is marking it 'vintage 1890' while it is still on the drawing board," Sohn said.

"In 20 years the property will be about as desirable as a Stanley steamer is to a motorist today."

DEWEY, STASSEN DEBATE.

"Keep the Communists in the open so that we can defeat them and what they stand for," Governor Dewey (right) argues over a microphone in Portland, Ore., in his debate with Harold E. Stassen (arrow) on the Mundt bill to outlaw the Communist party. Said Stassen, favoring the bill: Communist organizations "are "not political parties. They are fifth columns." Both candidates seek Oregon's 12 Republican national convention votes. (International Soundphoto)

DEWEY AND STASSEN IN CLOSING DRIVE

PORTLAND, Ore., May 19— Oregon's presidential primary today flared to white heat as Harold E. Stassen and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey loosed final salvoes in their battle for Friday's Republican ballots.

Both candidates are on their campaign trails again. Stassen is barnstorming by airplane to coastal towns, while Dewey swung by bus through the thriving Williamette valley.

Each has a busy schedule until election eve.

The Minnestotan's charge that he faces a Dewey-Taft combination in this far west test was quickly labeled a "pipe dream" by Gov. Dewey.

Stassen said publicly for the first time last night that "it is apparent that we (Stassen forces) face a combination of opposition." He named Senator Taft of Ohio as a member of the combine and said it was formed after the Nebraska primary. He added: "It has directed its full force on this Oregon primary." He spoke at Roseburg in southern Oregon.

Dewey's answer was made to reporters at St. Helens, where he appeared last night. Later, the New Yorker's secretary, Paul E. Lockwood, issued a statement in which he said Stassen's charge was "an alibi in advance of his defeat."

In another of his talks yesterday, Gov. Dewey injected the issue of the Stalin-Wallace "peace" exchange into his campaigning. Dewey declared that "all the free nations of the world" must be included in any consultations between the United States and Russia.

"We must not start private negotiations leaving any of the other free nations outside," he said in his extemporaneous comment.

Bishop's Consecration Witnessed by Mother

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, O., May 19 — Without a doubt, the proudest mother in Cleveland today is Mrs. Agnes Gregory Dearden.

The widowed Mrs. Dearden witnessed her first consecration yesterday, that of her 40-year-old son, Bishop John Francis Dearden, as coadjutor bishop of Pittsburgh with the right of succession.

Stepping down from the altar of St. Agnes church, Bishop Dearden paused before his kneeling mother in the first pew of the church to deliver his first blessing as a bishop in the Catholic church.

Silence fell over the audience as Bishop Dearden extended his right hand and his mother kissed the episcopal ring.

It is expected that Bishop Dearden will be installed as coadjutor bishop in Pittsburgh early in June. He is scheduled to celebrate his first solemn pontifical mass Sunday, May 30, at St. Mary's church in Painesville, where he served as assistant pastor after being ordained.

The invention of portable timepieces dates back to the end of the 15th century and they were first manufactured in Germany.

New Salt Type Makes Food Taste Better

CHICAGO—A new type of salt is being produced in this country which is supposed to make certain foods taste better.

Its law breaking name is monosodium glutamate, and is described as an amino salt. The foods it is said to improve most are seafood, meat, soup, chowder and stew.

The salt was brought here about 30 years ago from Japan, where it was discovered in 1908. Originally it was used to make the monotonous diet of rice and fish more palatable.

It is made from wheat gluten or from a by-product of beet sugar.

LOSES 60 POUNDS WITHOUT DIETING, THANKS TO RENNEL

New Madison Lady Praises Reducer

"I am very happy to recommend Rennel" writes Mrs. S. Helmuth. "When I started taking Rennel I was very overweight and was bothered with that overstuffed feeling. Now that I have lost 60 pounds I feel better in every way. I would have lost weight faster if I had watched my diet but I ate anything I wanted all of the time. That is what I like about Rennel, it isn't necessary to diet as it is with other reducing preparations. I also like the way it took care of that over-stuffed feeling."

Rennel is the original grapefruit juice recipe for taking off ugly fat. It's simple, go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel. Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough unsweetened grapefruit juice to fill the bottle, take just two tablespoons twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves—if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles; just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel, no starvation diet, no printed diet list to buy, no expensive vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry for you WON'T be hungry.

Zanesville Drops Marion to Second Division with 11 to 2 Victory

Ex-Relief Hurler Limits Cubs to 6 Hits.

Special to The Star

ZANESVILLE, O., May 19 — Roy Smith, pint sized, right-handed, ex-relief hurler struck out 14 batters and granted only six hits in his first start of the season last night as Zanesville defeated the Marion Cubs 11 to 2 in the series opener.

Marion's loss and Richmond's 7-2 win over the Springfield Giants, slipped the Cubs into fifth place and the second division for the first time in the season.

It was the Bruin's fourth loss in the last six games on the road. They'll play at Zanesville again tonight before returning to Marion tomorrow for a lengthy 12-game home stand.

Tally in 1st

Lee Bohlander's double and a wild throw by Dave Myers on Miskovich's roller produced the Cub's first inning tally. They scored again in the fourth when Bolduc singled, Shuford was hit by a pitched ball, Schmitt walked and Gatts flied to center.

The Cubs only other threat was in the ninth when singles by Sennepf and Gatts and an infield out placed runners on second and third but Bohlander was Smith's 14th strikeout victim.

Jerry Mack sent Zanesville out in front in the first inning with a home run over the centerfield fence with a mate on base. After the first inning Si Pavkov was stingy with base hits but liberal with walks and he went to the showers in the sixth when Zanesville scored five times.

Support Ragged

Pavkov's support was ragged at times but Bohlander made a sensational running catch of Dick Meyers drive against the Muncie Reds Run Their Lead to Two Full Games.

By The Associated Press

Muncie's front-running Reds appeared more and more today to be the team to beat in the 1948 Ohio-Indiana baseball race.

The Reds, fresh from losing a series from second-place Springfield, beat third-place Portsmouth last night at Muncie, 3-2.

Manager Mike Blazo's Hoosiers performed in championship style. They got tight, six-hit pitching from Larry Miller, pulled four double plays and scored the winning run with two out and two strikes on the batter in the last of the ninth.

His Third Win

Miller's win was his third against no defeats. Ken Lanning, regarded as the Muncie ace, also has a 3-0 record. The Reds have won 12 out of 18 games.

Springfield, a 7-2 victim of Richmond last night, has an 8-6 record. Portsmouth has 9-7.

In last night's other games, Roy Smith, promoted from relief pitching, struck out 14 Marion batters and yielded only six hits as Zanesville beat Marion, 11-2, and last-place Newark outscored seventh-place Lima in a wild, 11-10 game.

Luddy in Command

Southpaw Hal Luddy of Richmond was in command throughout as he set Springfield down with seven hits. Richmond clinched the decision in the last of the seventh with a four-run outburst featured by triples by Bob Heavern and Jack Regan.

Newark banged out a dozen hits, while Lima connected safely 11 times. Joe Eshoo, Newark shortstop, knocked in four runs and Bob Huddleston of Lima drove in three.

Chisox May Break AL Record for Games Lost

By International News Service

CHICAGO, May 19—The Chicago White Sox, who have used 61 pitchers in 21 games, of which they have won four, today were traveling at a clip which, if maintained, will obliterate the 32-year-old American league record for futility.

The old Philadelphia Athletics may have thought themselves some pumpkins when they lost the gay total of 117 games during the 1916 season, but keep your eye on the White Stockings.

Should they continue their present pace of 17 losses in 21 games, their final finish will be 29 victories and 125 defeats for the 154-game season.

By BILL DIEM
Star Sports Editor

FROM Cambridge, Mass., came a letter to The Star yesterday, with two dollars in it for two tickets to the Harding and St. Mary Booster clubs' benefit baseball game between the Marion Cubs and the Portsmouth Athletics here June 7. The letter and money was sent by Cub outfielder Bill Bolduc's mother, who asked that the tickets be given to two youngsters who would like to see the game. She also expressed her deep sorrow at the tragic death of catcher Robert Osgood, who, like her son, came from Massachusetts. Osgood died of a heart attack at Richmond, Ind., last week. He was only 19 years old.

ALTHOUGH THEY try not to show it, his death has affected the team. It was a shock for a group of active young ball players to find death in their midst, especially a death which couldn't be attributed to the hazards of the game, which like any sport, carries a certain amount of life risk with it. Picture the setting—the team, sitting in a dugout after a shower had chased them off the field in a pre-game workout, joking and laughing while waiting to see if the game would be played, and one boy leans his head on the shoulder of the man next to him, apparently weak from laughter and chuckling faintly. The general laughter and clamor of the team slowly fades away and the faint chortling of the boy is heard. The joke is dead and one of them asks the boy, "What's so funny?", but he doesn't answer, for he, too, is dead.

* * *

HAD BOB OSGOOD known he would strike out so soon in the game of life? Some say he did, that doctors had told him three years ago that he had less than three years to live because of heart trouble. Certain it is that he was told to give up playing football for his high school team in Somerville, Mass., but others say that baseball was not forbidden. At any rate, he played baseball for his high school team and became one of the greates teatchers in the school's history. He was chosen on several Massachusetts all-star teams. After he was graduated last year, he was signed by the Chicago Cubs and sent to Fayetteville, N. C. and after the bone in Marion Cub Manager Zeke Bekeza's hand was broken two weeks ago, he was sent here to catch. With his weak heart already a strike against him, he had taken a second when a spring attack of influenza had further weakened it, but whether or not he realized the count, he wanted to play ball. He played two games for the Cubs before death threw the third one.

* * *

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE between Class A and Class D schools in track competition? Not much, if the weekend's Central District meet at Delaware can give the answer. Of the 13 events common to both A and B schools, the B's turned in five better winning records, and tied the A's in the 120 high hurdles. The best discus thrower, shot-putter, 440 yard dashman, 220-yard low hurdle man, and high jumper were from B schools and the A's were better in the 100 yard dash, mile, 880 yard relay, broad jump, 880 yard run, pole vault, and 220 yard dash. Count out the two relay races, and the B's get the edge.

* * *

MARIONITES think they have a fine collection of jawbreakers in the names of some of the Marion Cubs players, but take a look around the Ohio-Indiana circuit and see what you get . . . Zanesville has a pitcher named Ron Wiblemo, and another called Horace Daisey. Joe Pingle and Dave Magoto pitch for Lima and Tom Matejka plays first base. Al Yearick catches for Richmond, George Poydenicz shortstops for Springfield, and Em Diano hurls for the Portsmouth A's. But the Newark Yankees have the prize collection. Among five new players who joined the Dick Yata's, and Joe Krochina's of the Yankees this week were infielders Gene Engholm, and Joe Eshoo, and outfielders Jim Caceiola and Sal Sasso.

Battle Royal Slated For Thursday

Marion wrestling fans will have their favorite type of grappling Thursday at the Armory when Promoter Fishbaugh presents a five man battle royal. This royal should stand out as one of the best here because it not only brings in some of the top boys of the country but also some who haven't shown here in a long time.

Here are the five wrestlers to take part: Bill Murray, the young Canadian who has won two battle royals here; Silent Rattan, the great mute grappler; Gene Blakely, the boy who stole the gold belt and later lost it back to Steve Nenoff; Jack Terry, the English grappler who just returned from Hollywood and Bill Sledge, the Texan.

The first man beaten is through for the evening, next two to get beat return for the forty-five minute semi-final and the last two left in the ring come back for the two hour main event.

The Barlow brothers will open the show at 8:30 with a ten minute prelim.

Prices remain at 50c, 75c, $1.00. Call Markert & Lewis for reservations.—Adv.

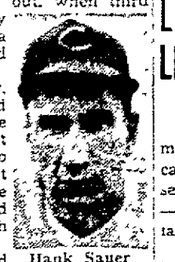
HOMERIN' HANK IS HERO---AND GOAT

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 19 — Hank Sauer, Cincinnati's slugging left fielder, made a quick switch from the hero to the goat last night as the Reds went down before the New York Giants, 6-5.

Homerin' Hank connected for his ninth circuit blow of the season, a two-run affair in the fourth inning, to put the Reds in the ball game, but then was cut down at the plate with the tying run in the ninth frame.

The Redlegs, trailing 6-4, had men on second and third in the ninth, with two out, when third sacker Grady Hatton rapped a grounder toward center field.



Hank Sauer

Bill Rigney, Giants' second baseman, made a great stop but was too late to catch Hatton at first, and Augie Galan scored the Reds' fifth run from third.

Sauer raced from second to third and, despite Manager Johnny Neun's cries to hold up, attempted to follow Galan home. He was cut down five feet from the plate by first baseman Johhny Mize's throw to end the game.

Hero and Goat

The Reds were out in front, 4-2, in the sixth by virtue of Babe Young's homer and another run, but the Giants roared back in the seventh to plate four markers.

Two singles and a walk loaded the bases for Bobby Thomson's three-run double in the seventh and then Thomson, himself, came home when the relay from the outfield went through catcher Ray Lamanno for an error.

The loss was the fifth as against one victory for Johnny Vander Meer and ended the Red's two-game winning skein.

Lefty Kent Peterson, who clipped the Giants 5-2 at Crosley Field May 5, was Neun's choice to face the New Yorkers in today's game, the second of a series of three. Larry Jansen opposed him.

LOWLY KC NICKS LEADING SAINTS, 9-8

By The Associated Press

St. Paul, riding along at a merry pace on top of the American Association, dropped the season's longest game—16 innings—to cellar-dwelling Kansas City last night.

The Blues, mired deep in the league basement most of the season, finished the nearly four hours of play on top of a 9 to 8 decision.

The Saints maintained their 2½ game margin over second-place Indianapolis, defeated by Columbus 9 to 8.

Milwaukee edged on third place Minneapolis by defeating the Millers 3 to 2 for the Brewers' fourth straight victory. The win put Milwaukee only a half game behind Minneapolis and 4½ away from the leaders. The Brews got their winning run in the ninth when lefty Monte Kennedy walked Al Roberge with the bases full.

Toledo won both games of a doubleheader from seventh place Louisville, 7 to 1 and 5 to 4.

The Blues hammered 19 hits off St. Paul pitchers in the marathon night game at Kansas City but the runs were hard to get and 21 Blues were left stranded.

Manager Dick Bartell used five pitchers in the 3 hours and 55 minutes of play and they were nicked for an even dozen hits, including two homers.

Buc Slugger's Homer in 8th Gives Pirates 4 to 3 Win Over Brave

By The Associated Press

If Ralph Kiner continues to break up ball games, official scorers may have to add a new line in the major league baseball box scores labeled "Winning hitter—Kiner."

The Pittsburgh power hitter, whose 51 four baggers tied him with Johnny Mize of the New York Giants for the National league leadership last year, won another game for the Pirates yesterday with his home run bat.

Kiner slammed his eighth homer of the season with a mate aboard in the eighth inning last night to give the Pirates a 4-3 victory over Bill Voiselle and the Braves in Boston.

4th Time

It marked the fourth time this season that a Kiner blast provided the winning runs for the Bucaneers.

A freak in the percentage table gave the Cleveland Indians the American league lead over Philadelphia despite the fact they trailed the Athletics by a half game. The mathematical oddity occurred when the Indians defeated the A's last night, 6-1, in Cleveland. It was their 14th win in 20 starts for a .700 percentage, a four point lead over the A's who have won 16 and lost seven for .696.

Enos Slaughter, the Cards' "money player," and Big Red Munger collaborated to give the Redbirds a 4-3 win over the Dodgers in Ebbets field. Slaughter's tremendous home run with one on in the sixth inning produced the winning margin for the Cards who extended their current winning streak to four straight.

Browns Surprise Yanks

The St. Louis Browns handed the New York Yankees a surprise 6-5 trimming and inflicted the season's first defeat upon righthander Allie Reynolds. The Yankees' Indian hurler had won his first five starts.

At Detroit, the Tigers spotted the visiting Boston Red Sox a 6-0 lead and then tallied seven runs off Dave Ferris and two successors to win, 10-7. The defeat snapped a four-game winning streak for the Red Sox.

The Washington Senators won a 5-4 twelve-inning victory over the White Sox in Chicago. It was the Sox' 11th defeat in their last 12 games.

The Giants inaugurated their home night season by defeating the Cincinnati Reds, 6-5, to remain within a game and a half of the National league lead.

The Chicago Cubs topped the Phillies, 3-2, at Philadelphia. A Cubs' runs were unearned.

INDIANS TAKE LEAD, BEAT ATHLETICS, 6-1

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 19—Cleveland's Indians, increasing by a narrow percentage margin of .004 were back in first place in the American league today.

Behind the six-hit hurling of Gene Bearden the Tribe dethroned Philadelphia last night by taking a 6 to 1 decision over the Athletics before 44,231 fans.

The rookie southpaw posting his second victory kept the Athletic blows confined to singles, three coming in the fifth inning when they scored their only run.

Gene Bearden

Lou Brissie opened for the visitors but was knocked out in the second inning as the Indians sent four men across the plate. The Dethrones A's 24-year-old lefthander was touched for five hits during his stay and was exceptionally wild.

Bob Savage and Carroll Hardy followed him to the mound and allowed only three blows.

The Indians lost no time in going to work, two men crossing the plate in the opening inning. Thurman Tucker the first batter to face Brissie walked and Allie Clark tripled him home. An infield roller by Joe Gordon scored Clark.

Pat Seerey started the scoring in the second when he walked, advanced to second on Jim Hegan's single and then came in on Gene Bearden's one-bagger.

Another single by Tucker pushed over Hegan. And a triple to the right field corner by Eddie Robinson scored Bearden and Tucker for the final Cleveland markers.

The Athletics' run was made when Buddy Rosar, former Cleveland catcher opened the fifth with a single, was sacrificed to second and tallied on another single by Eddie Joost.

The two teams conclude their two-game series tonight.

Bobby Feller was to start for Cleveland. Bill Dietrich of Joe Coleman were expected to oppose him.

FIRST CIRCUS COMING

Among the many new acts to be disclosed upon this year's program of the huge Cole Brothers Circus, coming to Marion next Wednesday for two performances at the Drake showgrounds, will be the Great Davisos, a man and a girl balanced atop a 36-foot pole supported on the shoulders of the man. The Davisos are among several attractions in store for circus patrons this season. Others will include the renowned Cristiani family of bareback riders; Ruth Nelson, the rider of rearing and high jumping horses, Hubert Castle, tightwire star, the Flying Thrillers, flying return stars, the Cristiani's acrobatic troupe featuring Ortans Cristiani; the Paul Nelson Liberty Horse act, and scores of other 1948 features including the first appearance in many years of the old-time steam calliope. Performances, starting at 2:15 and 8 p. m. open with a new spectacle, "Ponce de Leon and The Fountain of Youth."

ASHLAND HUMBLES HARDING NINE, 5-3

A's Spoil Prexy's Final Game of Season.

The Ashland A's gave pitcher Tom Glasser errorless support, spoiled Harding's baseball first at Lincoln park yesterday, 5-3.

A single, a walk and a single in the first of the first gave the A's a two run lead. The Prexies cut it down to half as much in their half on a walk, a hit and a passed ball. The score remained at 2 to 1 until the top of the fourth when Ashland piled two runners on base on a hit and a hit batsman and scored on a fielder's choice. Two more Ashland runners crossed the plate in the fifth on an error and a pair of hits.

Taylor doubled and came home on a single by Roseberry in the bottom of the fifth.

Harding scored again in the last of the seventh on a base hit, interference by the catcher, a walk and a passed ball but it wasn't enough to erase the A's lead.

Merle Duhn pitched six hit ball for the Prexies, set six down swinging, issued two walks and hit one. Messner and Nearhood reached Dunn for nubbles while Tom Taylor had a two-sacker for the Prexies as only three men hit for extra bases. Glasser fanned three and passed three in his perfect five innings. He completed the best average at the plate with three good hits in four trips.

Roseberry, Taylor, Dunn, Hill and Taylor divided Harding's hits one apiece.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 19 — The stock market swung ahead decisively today

Early irregularity rapidly gave way to a forward trend as public demand picked up Gains ranged from fractions to around a point in morning dealings

Volume expanded as prices advanced although the appearance of large blocks of stock on the ticker tape was noticeably absent.

Among the gainers—some sold at lower prices in the first half hour of business—were Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, Studebaker, Goodyear, J I Case, United Aircraft, Western Union Anaconda, American Smelting, American Can, American Woolen, Chicago Corp, Pepsi-Cola Sinclair Oil, Southern Pacific, and Mission Corp

Transcontinental & Western Air, a weak spot Tuesday on disclosure of the company's weakened financial situation, was under pressure again.

THE NEW "1948" FERGUSON TRACTOR
"Provides Penetration Without Weight"
The implement is attached to the tractor by two bottom links and one top link. When the implement (such as a plow) starts to enter the ground, the bottom links go into tension (start pulling) and the top link causes just compression (starts pushing). Therefore, the forward motion of the tractor actually pulls the plow into the ground without the use of excess weight.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

By AP Newsfeatures

TOM M. GIRDLER, born May 19, 1877, is best known for his losing fight when the CIO organized his Republic Steel Corp. He was one of the founders of Republic in 1929. During World War II he made Vultee Aircraft, Inc., a leader in warplant work. Son of a cement manufacturer, he went to New England as a youth as a salesman. Homesick, he got into the steel business when a U. S. firm offered him $83.33 a month.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

The Hatters' union has come out against Henry Wallace. They evidently feel he should not have been so careless as to throw their product in the ring.

Henry is leading in the balloting in a chain of news reel theaters in New York. If the election can be held between the cartoon and short subjects, he's in!

Meanwhile, Tom Dewey and Harold Stassen have been made honorary Indians. Since their debate both are entitled to be called Chief Red In the Face.

These two loyal sons of the tribe now spend considerable time trying to dislodge the Great White Father in Washington.

It is ritual that no man can run for president who hasn't been adopted by one tribe or another but so far Taft has escaped the Indian sign.

This is Dewey's third time around for the peace pipe. He is the only one of the candidates who can play Three Little Indians all by himself.
